It all started with a bar of soap...

Free Reign Farm began when one mom set out to find a better solution for her family's sensitive skin. Concerned about what was going on her children's skin—and ultimately, into their bodies—she crafted her first batch of goat milk soap using clean, nourishing ingredients straight from the farm.

That single bar of soap launched a journey that's grown into a full line of natural products: wood wick candles, lotion bars, and more. But our heart remains the same—to create products you can feel good about using, for the people you love most.
